MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

NEAK OKNHA LY SENG KHEANG

Chairman

EAST MICRO PLC was founded with a clear conviction that access to finance is a cornerstone of opportunity. In Cambodia, where small businesses and households drive the economy, financial inclusion is not merely a slogan—it is a pathway to resilience, dignity, and growth.

Our Strategic Rationale

While the financial sector continues to serve a vast number of clients, micro-entrepreneurs, farmers, and those in the informal economy—the very backbone of our communities—still face daunting and complex barriers to accessing financial services. For us, providing a loan is only half the battle; our true mission is to simplify access to financial services. We are dismantling the complexities of traditional banking to ensure that the driving forces of our community can thrive, free from the burden of complicated procedures.

This is not an easy business. It requires capital, patience, and a deep sense of responsibility. But it is a business of impact—where each loan can keep a child in school, stabilize a family's income, or help a small enterprise grow. That is why we remain committed, even in times of uncertainty.

The Bigger Picture

Cambodia's economy faced moderating growth, global volatility, and increased regulatory scrutiny. These conditions sharpen our focus. In uncertain environments, clients need institutions that are both responsible and commercially disciplined. Our priority is sustainable growth—built on sound underwriting, strong portfolio quality, and long term client relationships. By balancing client protection with prudent lending, EAST MICRO is positioned to create lasting value for customers, shareholders, and the financial sector.

The financial sector is evolving as the National Bank of Cambodia strengthens regulatory standards and digital innovation accelerates. We welcome these changes because they align with who we are: committed to Excellence in service, Accountability in operations, Sustainability in growth, and Trust in protecting our clients and communities.

Our Vision Ahead

We see EAST MICRO as more than a lender. We aim to be a partner in progress—helping small businesses thrive, supporting women entrepreneurs, and strengthening community resilience. Our strategy is clear:

- Quality over quantity: grow prudently and maintain professional integrity.
- Innovation with purpose: adopt technology to make finance simpler and safer.
- Impact with accountability: measure success not only in financial returns but in lives improved.

Our ESG Commitments

At EAST MICRO, sustainability is integrated into our core value. We commit to:

- Environmental Responsibility: advance paperless processes, energy efficient operations, and participation in the green finance ecosystem.
- Social Impact: engage in industry wide financial literacy initiatives, prioritize lending to women led enterprises, and uphold transparent pricing and fair collection practices.
- Governance Excellence: maintain strong compliance, independent oversight, and ethical conduct, because trust is the foundation of inclusive finance.

Commitment to Collective Accountability

To our shareholders: thank you for believing in long term value over short term gains.

To regulators and partners: we look forward to continued collaboration to ensure microfinance remains a vital catalyst for inclusive economic development.

To our clients: you are the reason we exist. Your resilience inspires us every day.

As Chairman, I reaffirm our commitment: to build a financial institution that serves with integrity, grows with discipline, and contributes to a more inclusive and sustainable financial sector. This is not just business—it is a mission we are proud to pursue.

Yours faithfully,

Neak Oknha LY SENG KHEANG
Chairman of the Board

MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

MR. SOUNG SOPHALRITHY

Chief Executive Officer

2025 has been a year of resilience and recalibration for the Cambodian economy and for EAST MICRO PLC. As we close the year, I would like to share how we navigated the shifting economic landscape, strengthened our foundations, and defined our strategic direction for disciplined, customer-centric growth in 2026 and beyond.

A Shifting Economic Landscape

Cambodia's economy grew at a moderate pace in 2025 amid a cooling real estate market, border disruptions, and new trade restrictions. GDP growth is estimated at 5.0%, supported by solid fundamentals, including high international reserves, well-managed inflation, and low public debt. However, rising Non-Performing Loans (NPLs) and a decline in domestic demand require us to remain highly vigilant—particularly as a lender to households and small businesses vulnerable to income volatility.

Adapting to Evolving Expectations

Throughout 2025, the National Bank of Cambodia (NBC) strengthened oversight, regulations, and market infrastructure, emphasizing expectations for responsible lending and consumer protection. These developments defined our credit discipline, portfolio monitoring, and product design to ensure that our customers borrow sustainably in a less certain environment.

Strengthening Our Foundations

In line with our mission to enhance financial inclusion for households and micro-enterprises, the institution has bolstered its capital base to ensure resilient and measured growth, successfully raising our registered capital to $4.5 million in early 2025.

Our audited financial results reflect steady progress toward sustainability. In 2025, EAST MICRO achieved its first year of profitability—marking our transition toward operational self-sufficiency—with an annual profit of approximately USD 66,324. This milestone builds upon the groundwork laid during our initial years, where we recorded net losses of USD 83,719 in 2024 and USD 465,695 in 2023. These figures demonstrate our intentional focus on building robust human resources, systems, and risk management frameworks. As of December 2025, we operate one branch with total assets of USD 4.05 million, serving 218 active clients with a loan portfolio of USD 3.70 million and maintaining an NPL rate of only 1.46%, a testament to our commitment to credit quality and customer experience.

Disciplined Service Delivery

Our approach remains rigorous: choosing prudent growth over forced expansion. In 2025, we enhanced our cash flow analysis, collateral valuation, and early warning systems, while refining repayment methods to align with customers' actual cash flows, alongside strengthening our governance, audit, risk, and compliance functions. In addition, we invested in our core banking system to modernize customer onboarding, servicing, and portfolio tracking—laying the groundwork for driving digital financial inclusion in the future.

Priorities for 2026

We will continue to maintain a low risk appetite, ensuring loan sizes match repayment capacity, enhancing consumer protection through price transparency and repayment capacity assessments, and supporting micro-entrepreneurs and the informal sector with tailored solutions that build resilience and inclusion.

A Call to Partnership

To our customers: Thank you for your trust. Your resilience inspires us every day.

To our staff: Your integrity and dedication are the heart of this institution.

To our shareholders and stakeholders: Thank you for backing an institution built for long-term value, not just short-term gains. We welcome continued collaboration with regulators, development partners, and peers.

When policy discipline is met with institutional responsibility, microfinance can help households and small businesses navigate toward renewed growth.

On behalf of the Board, management, and staff, I reaffirm EAST MICRO's commitment: to serve with Excellence, operate with Accountability, grow with Sustainability, and build Trust for our customers and community—ensuring that financial access truly improves lives.

Respectfully,

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with CISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with CISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our audit report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosure, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

East Micro Plc.

Notes to the financial statements For the year ended 31 December 2025

1. Reporting entity

East Micro Plc. (“the Company”) is a public limited company incorporated in the Kingdom of Cambodia on 28 March 2023 under the registration number 2000256647 issued by the Ministry of Commerce.

On 27 July 2023, the National Bank of Cambodia (the “Central Bank” or “NBC”) granted the Company a permanent license to conduct business as a micro-finance institution in the Kingdom of Cambodia.

The principal business activities of the Company are to provide credit services and other financial services to individual customers in the Kingdom of Cambodia.

The Company’s registered office is located at East Mini Condo (MF), No. SH01-04, Phum Ler, Sangkat Svay Chhrum, Krong Akreiy Ksatr, Kandal Province, Kingdom of Cambodia.

As at 31 December 2025, the Company had 15 employees (2024: 15 employees).

2. Basis of preparation

2.1 Statement of compliance

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Cambodian International Financial Reporting Standards for Small and Medium-sized Entities (“CIFRS for SMEs”).

Details of the Company’s significant accounting policies are included in Note 22.

These financial statements were approved by the Board of Directors and authorised for issue on 24 April 2026.

2.2 Fiscal year and reporting period

The Company’s fiscal year starts on 1 January and ends on 31 December.

2.3 Basis of measurement

The financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis.

2.4 Functional and presentation currency

The national currency of Cambodia is the Khmer Riel (“KHR”). However, as the Company transacts its business and maintains its accounting records in two currencies, the United States Dollars (“US$”) and the KHR, management has determined the US$ to be the Company’s functional as it reflects the economic substance of the underlying events and circumstances of the Company.

For the year ended to 31 December 2025

2. Basis of preparation (continued)

2.4 Functional and presentation currency (continued)

The financial statements are stated in the US$, which is the Company's functional currency. All amounts have been rounded to the nearest dollars, unless otherwise indicated.

The translations of US$ amount into KHR are included solely for meeting the presentation requirements pursuant to the Law on Accounting and Auditing.

Assets and liabilities are translated at the closing rate as at the reporting date, and the share capital are translated at the historical rate. The statements of comprehensive income and cash flows are translated into KHR using the average rate for the year. Exchange differences arising from the translation are recognised as "currency translation difference" in the other comprehensive income. The accumulated currency translation differences are recognised as a separate component of equity. All values in KHR are rounded to the nearest thousand ("KHR'000"), except if otherwise indicated.

The Company uses the following exchange rates:

Financial period end	Closing rate	Average rate
31 December 2025	US$1 = KHR4,013	US$1 = KHR4,011
31 December 2024	US$1 = KHR4,025	US$1 = KHR4,071

These convenience translations should not be construed as representations that the US$ amounts have been, could have been, or could in the future be, converted into KHR at this or any other rate of exchange.

2.5 Use of estimates and judgements

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, and income and expenses. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimates are revised and in any future periods affected.

Information about assumptions and estimation uncertainties that have a significant risk of resulting in a material adjustment is set out in Note 3 - Critical accounting estimates and judgements.

For the year ended to 31 December 2025

3. Critical accounting estimates and judgements

Estimates, assumptions and judgements are continually evaluated and are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. The estimates, assumptions and judgements that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year are discussed below:

3.1 Income and other taxes

Taxes are calculated on the basis of current interpretation of the tax obligations. However, these regulations are subject to periodic variation and different interpretation following inspection by the tax authorities. These may result in tax increase and other retroactive tax claims. It is difficult to predict the timing and severity of these occurrences or their potential effect.

3.2 Property and equipment

Accounting for property and equipment involves the use of estimates for determining the expected useful lives of these assets. The determination of useful lives of the assets is based on Management's judgement.

3.3 Allowance for doubtful debts

Management establishes an allowance for doubtful debts on a case-by-case basis when they believe collection of amounts owed is unlikely to occur. In establishing these allowances, the management considers its historical experience and changes to its customers' financial position. If the financial condition of customer were deteriorating, resulting in an inability to make the required payments, an allowance may be required to be made for such a receivable.

21. Tax contingencies

Taxes are subject to review and investigation by a number of authorities, who are enabled by law to impose severe fines, penalties and interest charges. The application of tax laws and regulations to many types of transactions are susceptible to varying interpretations.

These facts may create tax risks in Cambodia substantially more significant than in other countries. Management believes that it has adequately provided for tax liabilities based on its interpretation of tax legislation. However, the relevant authorities may have different interpretations and the effects could be significant.

22. Significant accounting policies

22.1 Basis of aggregation

The Company's financial statements comprise the financial statements of the head office and its branches. All inter-branch balances and transactions have been eliminated.

22.2 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, deposits with banks and other highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less and that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

Cash and cash equivalents are carried at amortised cost using the effective interest method in the statement of financial position.

22.3 Deposits and placements with banks

Deposits and placements with banks are carried at amortised cost using the effective interest method in the statement of financial position.

22. Significant accounting policies (continued)

22.4 Deposits and placements with the NBC

Deposits and placements with the NBC, including capital guarantee deposit, are carried at amortised cost using the effective interest method in the statement of financial position.

Capital guarantee deposit is maintained in compliance with the Cambodian Law on Banking and Financial Institutions and are determined by defined percentages of minimum share capital as required by the NBC. Capital guarantee is not available to finance the Company's day-to-day operations hence are not considered as part of cash and cash equivalents for the purpose of the statement of cash flows.

22.5 Loan to customers

Loans to customers are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market and that the Company does not intend to sell immediately or in the near term.

Loans to customers are initially measured at fair value plus incremental direct transaction costs, and subsequently measured at their amortised cost using the effective interest method.

22.6 Other assets

Other assets are carried at amortised cost using the effective interest method in the statement of financial position.

22.7 Property and equipment

(i) Recognition and measurement

Items of property and equipment are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any.

When parts of an item of property and equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items (major components) of property and equipment.

Gains or losses on disposal of an item of property and equipment are determined by comparing the proceeds from disposal with the carrying amount of property and equipment and are recognised net within other income in profit or loss.

(ii) Subsequent costs

The costs of replacing a part of an item of property and equipment are recognised in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the part will flow to the Company and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised. The costs of the day-to-day servicing of property and equipment are recognised in profit or loss as incurred.

(iii) Depreciation

Depreciation is charged so as to allocated the cost of assets less their residual value over there estimated useful lives. Depreciation starts when the assets is readily available for use. The annual depreciation method and useful lives for property and equipment are as follows:

Leasehold improvements	4 years	Using a straight-line method
Furniture and fixtures	4 years	Using a straight-line method
Other equipment	4 years	Using a straight-line method
Computer equipment	4 years	Using a straight-line method
Motor Vehicles	5 years	Using a straight-line method
Vehicles	8 years	Using a straight-line method

If there is an indication that there has been a significant change in depreciation rate, useful life or residual value of an asset, the depreciation of that asset is revised prospectively to reflect the new expectations.

Fully depreciated property and equipment are retained in the financial statements until disposed of or written off.

22.8 Intangible assets

Intangible assets consist of computer software license and related costs are stated at cost less accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses, if any.

Intangible assets are amortised over an estimate useful life of 4 to 10 years using a straight-line method. If there is an indication that there has been a significant change in amortisation rate, useful life or residual value of an intangible asset, the amortisation is revised prospectively to reflect the new expectations.

22.9 Impairment

Non-financial assets

The carrying amounts of the Company's non-financial assets are reviewed at each reporting date to determine whether there is any indication of impairment. If any such indication exists, the asset's recoverable amount is estimated.

The recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit is the greater of its value in use and its fair value less cost to sell. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

For the purpose of impairment testing, assets are grouped together into the smallest group of assets that generates cash inflows from continuing use that are largely independent of the cash inflows of other assets or groups of assets (the “cash-generating unit”).

An impairment loss is recognised if the carrying amount of an asset or its cash-generating unit exceeds its estimated recoverable amount. Impairment losses are recognised in the income statement.

22.10 Other liabilities

Other liabilities are carried at amortised cost using the effective interest method in the statement of financial position.

22.11 Provisions

Provisions are recognised in the statement of financial position when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events; it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation; and the amount has been reliably estimated. Provisions are measured at the present value of the expenditure expected to be required to settle the obligation using a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as finance cost.

22.12 Employee benefits

(i) Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits are expensed as the related service is provided. A liability is recognised for the amount expected to be paid if the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee and the obligation can be estimated reliably.

(ii) Other long-term employee benefits

The Company’s net obligation in respect of long-term employee benefits, including seniority indemnity obligation, is the amount of the benefit that employees have earned in return for their service in the current and prior periods. That benefit is discounted to determine its present value. Remeasurements are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

22. Significant accounting policies (continued)

22.13 Dividends

Dividends declared and approved by the Company's shareholders before the end of reporting date are recognised as a liability and accounted for as a deduction from the retained earnings in the financial statements.

Dividends declared and approved by the Company's shareholders after the reporting date are not recognised as a liability but disclosed as the subsequent events note in the financial statements.

22.14 Interest

Interest income and expense are recognised in profit or loss using the effective interest method. The 'effective interest rate' is the rate that exactly discounts the estimated future cash payments and receipts through the expected life of the financial asset or financial liability (or, where appropriate, a shorter period) to the carrying amount of the financial asset or financial liability.

When calculating the effective interest rate, the Company estimates future cash flows considering all contractual terms of the financial instrument, but not future credit losses.

The calculation of the effective interest rate includes transaction costs and fees and points paid or received that are an integral part of the effective interest rate. Transaction costs include incremental costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of a financial asset or financial liability.

22.15 Fees and commission

Fees and commission income and expense that are integral to the effective interest rate on a financial asset or financial liability are included in the measurement of the effective interest rate.

Other fees and commission income are recognised as the related services are performed. If a loan commitment is not expected to result in the draw-down of a loan, then the related loan commitment fees are recognised on a straight-line basis over the commitment period.

Other fees and commission expense relate mainly to transaction and service fees, which are expensed as the services are received.

22.16 Leases

Leases are classified as finance leases whenever the terms of the lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the leased asset to the Company. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

Rights to assets held under finance leases are recognised as assets of the Company at the fair value of the leased property (or, if lower, the present value of minimum lease payments) at the inception of the lease. The corresponding liability to the lessor is included in the statement of financial position as a finance lease obligation. Lease payments are apportioned between finance charges and reduction of the lease obligation so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are deducted in measuring profit or loss. Assets held under finance leases are included in property and equipment, and depreciated and assessed for impairment losses in the same way as owned assets.

Rentals payable under operating leases are charged to profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

22.17 Income tax

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Current tax and deferred tax are recognised in profit or loss except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income.

Current tax is the expected tax payable on the taxable income for the year using tax rates enacted or substantially enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment to tax payable in respect of previous years.

Deferred tax is recognised on differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and their corresponding tax bases (known as temporary differences).

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all temporary differences that are expected to increase taxable profit in the future. Deferred tax assets are recognised for all temporary differences that are expected to reduce taxable profit in the future, and any unused tax losses or unused tax credits. Deferred tax assets are measured at the highest amount that, on the basis of current or estimated future taxable profit, is more likely than not to be recovered.

The net carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and is adjusted to reflect the current assessment of future taxable profits. Any adjustments are recognised in profit or loss, except that an adjustment attributable to an item of income or expense recognised in other comprehensive income shall also be recognised in other comprehensive income.

Deferred tax is calculated at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the taxable profit (tax loss) of the periods in which it expects the deferred tax asset to be realised or the deferred tax liability to be settled, on the basis of tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

22.18 Financial assets and financial liabilities

(i) Recognition

The Company initially recognises a financial asset or a financial liability when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

A financial asset or financial liability is measured initially at fair value plus transaction costs that are directly attributable to its acquisition or issue.

(ii) Classification

The Company classifies its financial assets and liabilities as basic financial instruments in accordance with Section 11, Basic Financial Instruments.

(iii) Derecognition

The Company derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire or settled, or it transfers the rights to receive the contractual cash flows in a transaction in which substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset are transferred or in which the Company neither transfers nor retains substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership and it does not retain control of the financial asset.

The Company derecognises a financial liability when its contractual obligations are discharged or cancelled, or expire.

(iv) Offsetting

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount presented in the statement of financial position when, and only when, the Company currently has a legally enforceable right to set off the amounts and it intends either to settle them on a net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(v) Amortised cost measurement

The amortised cost of a financial asset or financial liability is the amount at which the financial asset or financial liability is measured at initial recognition, minus principal repayments, plus or minus the cumulative amortisation using the effective interest method of any difference between the initial amount recognised and the maturity amount, minus any reduction for impairment.

(vi) Fair value measurement

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date in the principal or, in its absence, the most advantageous market to which the Company has access at that date. The fair value of a liability reflects its non-performance risk.

When available, the Company measures the fair value of an instrument using the quoted price in an active market for that instrument. A market is regarded as active if transactions for the asset or liability take place with sufficient frequency and volume to provide pricing information on an ongoing basis.

If there is no quoted price in an active market, then the Company uses valuation techniques that maximise the use of relevant observable inputs and minimise the use of unobservable inputs. The chosen valuation technique incorporates all of the factors that market participants would take into account in pricing a transaction.

The best evidence of the fair value of a financial instrument at initial recognition is normally the transaction price - i.e. the fair value of the consideration given or received. If the Company determines that the fair value at initial recognition differs from the transaction price and the fair value is evidenced neither by a quoted price in an active market for an identical asset or liability nor based on a valuation technique that uses only data from observable markets, then the financial instrument is initially measured at fair value, adjusted to defer the difference between the fair value at initial recognition and the transaction price. Subsequently, that difference is recognised in profit or loss on an appropriate basis over the life of the instrument but no later than when the valuation is wholly supported by observable market data or the transaction is closed out.

(vii) Identification and measurement of impairment

Objective evidence of impairment

At each reporting date, the Company assesses whether there is objective evidence that financial assets that are measured at cost or amortised cost. A financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired when objective evidence demonstrates that a loss event has occurred after the initial recognition of the assets and that the loss event has an impact on the future cash flows of the assets that can be estimated reliably.

Objective evidence that financial assets are impaired includes:

- significant financial difficulty of the borrower or issuer;
- default or delinquency by a borrower;
- the restructuring of a loan or advance by the Company on terms that the Company would not consider otherwise;
- indications that a borrower or issuer will enter bankruptcy;
- the disappearance of an active market for a security; or
- observable data relating to a group of assets such as adverse changes in the payment status of borrowers or issuers in the group, or economic conditions that correlate with defaults in the group.

Individual and collective assessment

All individually significant assets are individually assessed for impairment.

Those found not to be specifically impaired are then collectively assessed for any impairment that has been incurred but not yet identified.

The individual component of the total allowance for impairment applies to financial assets evaluated individually for impairment, and found to be individually impaired, and is based on management's best estimate of the present value of the cash flows that are expected to be received. In estimating these cash flows, management makes judgements about a debtor's financial situation and the net realisable value of any underlying collateral. Each impaired asset is assessed on its merits, and the workout strategy and estimate of cash flows considered recoverable are independently approved by the management.

(vii) Identification and measurement of impairment (continued)

A collective component of the total allowance is established for:

- groups of homogeneous loans that are not considered individually significant; and
- groups of assets that are individually significant but that were not found to be individually impaired.

The collective allowance for groups of homogeneous loans is established using statistical methods such as roll rate methodology or, for small portfolios with insufficient information, a formula approach based on historical loss rate experience.

In assessing the collective loss allowance, management considers factors such as credit quality, portfolio size, concentrations and economic factors. To estimate the required allowance, assumptions are made to define how inherent losses are modelled and to determine the required input parameters, based on historical experience and current economic conditions. The accuracy of the allowance depends on the model assumptions and parameters used in determining the collective allowance.

Measurement

Impairment losses on assets measured at amortised cost are calculated as the difference between the carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the asset's original effective interest rate.

Reversal of impairment and written off

If, in a subsequent period, the amount of an impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognised, the entity shall reverse the previously recognised impairment loss either directly or by adjusting an allowance account.

The reversal shall not result in a carrying amount of the financial asset (net of any allowance account) that exceeds what the carrying amount would have been had the impairment not previously been recognised. The entity shall recognise the amount of the reversal in profit or loss immediately.

The Company writes off a loan or an investment debt security, either partially or in full, and any related allowance for impairment losses, when the management determines that there is no realistic prospect of recovery.

23. Upcoming changes in Accounting Standards

On 27 February 2025, the International Accounting Standards Board issued the third edition of the IFRS for SMEs, introducing revisions to key areas, including revenue recognition. As IFRS for SMEs is adopted in Cambodia, the updated standard will be applicable upon issuance. The standard is effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2027, with early adoption permitted. Management is assessing its impact and will adopt it in line with the effective date or earlier if appropriate.
